Introducing
LiveLight Energy

The experience to make it simple

LiveLight Energy™ designs and installs high-quality renewable energy systems. We make solar simple, integrating it into your home or business to help you achieve your energy goals.

Formerly a part of Robert Knowles Construction, LLC, we have established LiveLight Energy to focus on renewable energy solutions. We have a total of 26 years of experience in the construction and renewable industry. Our construction heritage gives us the ability to tackle challenging structural issues on retrofit projects, and integrate easily into new construction projects.

We are a locally owned family operation, and we focus on supporting local businesses around us. Whenever possible, we use equipment manufactured and assembled in Oregon.

Solar is a strong investment

When buying or constructing a building, you're signing a long-term energy contract. That contract is subject to future energy inflation. Integrating solar helps you save money, insulating you from that energy inflation. Studies also show that solar increases the value of your property.

All-in-all it's an investment that actually pays back within 5 to 10 years and returns 2 to 3 times its value in energy savings over the lifetime of a system.

"In its first 10 months, the solar water heater you installed saved almost 30% on our annual electric bill—and that's after we completed a master bedroom addition to our home."

Eric Witherspoon, Yamhill, Oregon
